If you happen to pop into Bal Harbour Shops within the next four months, be certain to snoop around the novel Aquazzura pop up boutique. As the go-to shoe brand for celebrities (think Kim Kardashian, Kendall Jenner, Reese Witherspoon, Kate Bosworth and Emma Stone) Designer Edgardo Osorio's heels are definitely having a fashion moment. Swathed in whimsical wallpaper, the boutique is brimming with brand's footwear which is coveted for its modern design with major sex appeal.

"I create shoes that have a new elegance, not only for their beauty, but also in how comfortable they are. I create shoes for women to walk, to dance and to enjoy — not to suffer. I love women and I make my shoes so they look more beautiful," Osorio says of his design ethos.

There's a 305 connection, too. Osorio grew up between Miami and Colombia and adds, "I love Miami's weather, beach and the warmth of its people. I've always been in love with the sea and Miami is blessed with amazing beaches!"
